3 aspects:

1. Religion
(Holocaust vs. Christianity)
2. Pope Pius XII.
(in revisionist literature)
3. Justice
(Punishment is a crime)

1. Religion

a) "Auschwitz is the refutation of Christ" Claude Lanzmann

1. Religion

b) "Auschwitz is like the holy of holies."

Robert Jan Van Pelt

1. Religion

C) Antipopes in Auschwitz

"John Paul II."

"Benedict XVI."

"Francis" ("open heretic")

(see "sedevacantism")

2. Pope Pius XII.

a) Prof. Paul Rassinier "Operation Vicar" against Rolf Hochhuth

2. Pope Pius XII.

b) Prof. Arthur Butz

"The Hoax of the Twentieth Century"

"The Role of the Vatican"

2. Pope Pius XII.

c) Prof. Robert Faurisson

"Pope Pius XII’s Revisionism"

3. Justice

Nulla poena sine lege

No penalty without a law

Human right:

One cannot be punished for doing something that is not prohibited by law.

§ 130 StGB

"Holocaust"

is not mentioned at all.

No word of Jews, gas chambers,

extermination camps etc.

There is no legal definition what you must believe to avoid punishment for "holocaust denial".

Herman Rosenblat

Judge against Ernst Zündel: "It does not matter whether the holocaust happened or not, its denial is punishable, and that is all that counts in court."

I, Father Lingen, was condemned as a
"heretic"
in a criminal trial.
But no one could ever tell
my "heresy"!
Video: False Expert Reports

If you want to condemn someone for being a "heretic" / "denier", you must FIRST declare what is "heresy" / "denial".

Conclusion:

Everybody has the right to be, virtually nobody has an excuse not to be a

Revisionist
